"No jab, no job" mandates are harming Pennsylvanians. None of us should have to choose between an unwanted medical intervention and our livelihood.

"I have been a pediatrician and a child advocate for 18 years. After speaking out against vaccine mandates on a local news station, only 3 hours later I was told I was no longer welcome at my place of patient care and teaching medical students and residents. Change is needed so that patient care is not determined by administrators, insurance companies, and the pharmaceutical industry, but instead is determined by the physician-patient covenant of trust."

- Dr. Chaminie Wheeler

"We are two pilots, trying to raise six young kids, some with special needs. We have been put on indefinite, unpaid leave - which not only violates 'reasonable accommodation', but also is cruel and unusual punishment. Our family is suffering under the stress of trying to find new forms of income on a moment's notice and rearranging school life and home life. Honestly, all areas of our lives are a struggle because of this discrimination." - Stephanie Atteberry

"I dedicated my life to the medical community as a pediatric nurse over the last decade, having put myself through graduate school, as a single mother, to become a pediatric nurse practitioner. On September 17, 2021, I was terminated from CHOP for speaking in support of freedom of choice and bodily autonomy. I was told that I violated a code of conduct, without any evidence given. I have lost so much - income, health insurance, and the ability to help many. I was even denied unemployment."

- Kayla, CPN, MSN, CRNP

"I worked as a laborer for Allegheny County for 11 years. I worked outdoors and worked all through the pandemic as we were deemed essential. The county instituted a COVID vaccine mandate 12/2021. My religious exemption was denied, with Allegheny County claiming undue hardship. They never had to explain the hardship that would be caused. The stress of losing my job was overwhelming, right before the holidays, with a family that depends on me to provide."

- Shane Chesher

Where there is risk, there must be choice - without coercion.
